FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
June 26, 2015

We did it! This morning, the United States Supreme Court made history when it announced that all Americans should be able to marry the person they love.

With this landmark decision, loving and committed same-sex couples can finally rest knowing their families are protected and their dignity is no longer up for public debate. Today, love prevailed.

With your support, San Fernando LGBT Community Center has worked for 7years to share stories of love and commitment that build understanding, accelerate acceptance, and drive change forward. We've still got a lot of work to do, but today we celebrate this historic milestone on the road to full acceptance.

Congratulations and Happy Pride,

Renato Lira
